EDITORIAL

Introductory Editorial

Garry Walsh
Reader in Inflammation and Immunity, University of Aberdeen Scotland, United Kingdom.
I am pleased to announce the launch of Clinical Medicine Reviews in Vascular Health, a new journal published by Clinical Medicine Reviews.

Clinical Medicine Reviews in Vascular Health is an international, peer-reviewed journal of focusing on rapid reporting of clinical studies on the processes involved in the maintenance of vascular health, including but not limited to:

- monitoring, prevention, and treatment of vascular disease and its sequelae
- the involvement of metabolic disorders, particularly diabetes.

The journal will also aim to define drug usage in terms of ultimate uptake and acceptance by patients and healthcare professionals.